

Daiichi Sankyo:

The client needed artwork for their training center. The scope of the project was to find work for the entire facility, including the garden area, lounges, breakout rooms, and conference room. Images from the Novo Arts image bank were selected, and supplemented with custom imagery of their New Jersey surroundings. Each image was printed on photo paper, and then laminated onto sheets of plexi-glass and mounted with either gallery mount or standoffs, giving their facility a sleek, yet professional, look.
